Comprehensive legal and business support to help you manage industry challenges so you can focus on serving and caring for patients.

The health care industry faces tremendous challenges driven by changes to laws and regulations, new technologies, data privacy concerns and shifting business models. To effectively operate in this complicated field, clients need the support of legal and business counsel with deep experience in regulatory, risk management and operational matters.

Our health care team of lawyers is dedicated to protecting health care providers. We serve hospitals and health systems, suppliers, physician practices, diagnostic clinics, ambulatory surgical facilities, clinical laboratories, assisted living facilities, long-term care facilities, mental health providers, home care and hospice agencies, trade associations, health exchanges and other entities. We understand the challenges and rapidly changing regulations facing the health care industry and have the comprehensive industry knowledge and extensive resources to provide effective regulatory, compliance, transactional and litigation counsel. Working closely with clients as business advisors, we develop effective strategies to help you manage complex industry challenges while keeping your focus on serving and caring for patients.
