Sophisticated, comprehensive counsel to effectively manage complex health care disputes, investigations, regulatory compliance and enforcement actions.

The Mitchell Williams health care litigation team defends health care clients when they are faced with difficult and challenging disputes. We understand the complexity of our clients' legal and operational challenges within the rapidly evolving health care industry.

Combining our extensive industry knowledge and experience in high-stakes disputes, we counsel clients on managing risk and resolving complex disputes. We represent hospitals and health systems, physician and specialty practice groups, individual providers, pharmacies, long-term care providers and health care technology companies when faced with sophisticated disputes, regulatory challenges, compliance issues and government enforcement matters. To effectively handle issues, we provide comprehensive counsel through all stages of litigation, arbitration, mediation and administrative proceedings.
