The Beaver Watershed Alliance ("BWA") announced it will be holding a webinar on riparian zones on Thursday, March 18th.

The webinar will be conducted by Nate Weston.

Mr. Weston is a Geospatial Ecologist at BWA.

The webinar will provide information regarding riparian zones such as:

- What they do
- How they can be protected
- Role in watershed protection
- Preventing contaminants from entering waterways
- Promoting wildlife

Additional topics will include:

- Types of riparian zones
- Common riparian features
- How to identify, establish, manage and maintain a riparian area
- How to stack a riparian area's vegetation to increase durability/stormwater filtration capacity

The webinar will be held from 12:00-12:45 p.m.

Registration information for the webinar can be found here.
