The Beaver Watershed Alliance announced its rescheduling of an upcoming Riparian Restoration Workshop ("Workshop") that will now be held on November 18th.

The Workshop will be held at the Goshen Community Center in Goshen, Arkansas from 8:30 am to 4:30 pm.

The program is free.

Identified as key initiatives of the Workshop include:

- Plant identification
- Invasive removal
- Revegetation Techniques

Conservation professionals will provide information on how to:

…reduce streambank erosion, combat invasive species, and revegetate riparian areas in both indoor and outdoor classroom environments.

Attendees will receive a copy of:

Invasive Plants of NWA: A Field Management Guide.

Project partners also include:

- Watershed Conservation Resource Center
- Beaver Water District
- City of Goshen

The Workshop is stated to be part of the United States Environmental Protection Agency Section 319 grant in the Beaver Lake watershed administered by the Arkansas Department of Agriculture – Natural Resource Division.

Registration is free but RSVP is required.

To RSVP, email info@beaverwatershedalliance.org or call (479) 750-8007. Spots are limited.
